BATTLE ROYAL FOR SPAIN'S AMERICAN EMPIRE

"An age will come after many years when the Ocean will loose the chains of things, and a huge land be revealed." The ancient prophecy of Seneca, sage of Rome, fascinated Columbus. He touched the threshold of such a vision in 1492: new continents, new riches, a new world. Spain claimed it all, bolstered by a papal decree that split the globe between herself and Portugal. For three centuries she battled other competitors—chiefly England, France, and the Netherlands—to settle the Americas, reap their wealth, and sow religion.

Into the West Indies swept the conquistadors, then on to Florida, Mexico, Central and South America. Here were Aztec and Inca treasures to seize, Indian souls to save, and gold and silver to mine. From a nexus of colonial ports, trade exploded. Fleets of Spanish warships and merchant vessels scoured the Caribbean for precious metals and jewels. Coins struck from New World bullion revolutionized the economy of the Old, while tantalizing new foods and raw materials speeded its way of life.

Other budding imperialists scoffed at Spain's dream of monopoly. English, Dutch vessels invaded her Caribbean, smuggling African slaves factured goods to Spanish colonies bought what their mother could adequately supply. Privateers plundered Spain's outposts and commerce. At the same time, England thrust their flags into Canada, as Sweden dogged English for the Atlantic coast; French explorers swam ashore the Mississippi. So the seafores from Nova Scotia to California, shipwrecks catalog the collision and the treacheries of wind and

By 1763 Spain's New World passed. When she ended Florida States in 1819, her subjects in South America were already in toward successful revolt. Five y Cuba and Puerto Rico remains of the legacy Columbus had left rest had been nullified by Europe and by the spirit of independence.

The map is a composite based on charts designed about 1700 by cartographer Horacio a Dutchman who lived in London. Spallings and boundaries are contemporary with the Map colors reflect the claims of rival nations: France—green, Spain—orange, Britain

They come from all over the world and from many different countries to become a part of our world here at Maury. They draw from their cultures and experiences—from a different way of life and in doing so, they make our lives much richer. They share their ideas and their traditions. We feel their influences in our sports, clubs, organizations, and in our academics. We welcome them to our world with all its advantages and disadvantages. We all share different experiences and many memories. Our attempt is to capture these special moments and memories in our yearbook.

NEW FOUND LAND

"LE CHAMEAU" (THE CAMEL)
 Carrying a payroll for French troops in Canada, the transport was ripped apart by a reef in 1720. Payday came more than two centuries later—to a crew of amateur divers who salvaged a million dollars in gold and silver coins.

THE BANKS OF NEW FOUND LAND

THE ENGLISH WAVE
 Almost a century passed before English colonists followed John Cabot's 1497 voyage to North America. After an unsuccessful try at Roanoke, English farmers settled the Atlantic shore, from Jamestown to Plymouth and Massachusetts Bay, then rolled inland to confront both native Americans and Spanish traders.

NEW NETHERLAND
 The proto-state Dutch opened for business in 1624 with a trading set on the Hudson. Manhattan—site of New Amsterdam—was quickly purchased for 24 dollars' worth of goods. The island became New York without a battle in 1684, when theutch surrendered to an English fleet.

MARGARITA'S PEARLS
 To work this island's rich oyster beds, the Spanish conscripted skilled Italian divers, whom they were expended. African slaves took over.

CARIBBEAN CLAIM JUMPERS
 Europe's craving for tobacco and sugar sent rival colonists to islands in the "Spanish lake" during the 17th century. France worked her way from Guadeloupe and Martinique to Hispaniola. England took a string of prizes, from Barbados north through the Leeward Antilles and good to Jamaica. The Netherlands holdings were minor, but her role as a trader and naval power was major.

THE SPANISH CONVOY SYSTEM
 Each year Spain normally sent two fleets of merchant ships, guarded by armed vessels, across the Atlantic. One, the Yema Fina fleet, sailed for the South American coast to replace fortune from its capital at Cartagena and Portobello. The other, the Nova Fina fleet, took on Mexico's contribution at Havana and return together, but they often missed connections.

 Q: What country are you from?
 A: Sweden
 Q: What languages do you speak?
 A: I speak English and Swedish fluently. I speak German and French on a conversational level.
 Q: What do you think of American girls?
 A: I like them. They're nice-especially the girls from Cox High at the banquet yesterday. I like brunettes.
 Q: What do you think of President Carter?
 A: I think he's good and if I could vote for him I would do it.
 Q: What type of government exists in Sweden?
 A: Parliamentarian - you vote parties not people.
 Q: Is there a drug problem with teenagers in Sweden?
 A: Yes, but not with grass. Alcohol is the most prevalent drug.

 Q: Is it difficult to gain admittance to a univeristy?
 A: Yes because it is absolutely free. They only take the top.
 Q: Do you find Maury challenging academically?
 A: Yes but the counselors do not permit me to take all the courses I desire.
 Q: What American star would you like a date?
 A: None of Charlie's Angels
 Q: What do you like best about the U.S.?
 A: Personal freedom and individuality
 Q: Is the divorce rate high in your country and is it acceptable?
 A: The divorce rate is pretty high. My parents are divorced, but it is not acceptable.
 Q: What does the expression "Freak Out" mean to you?
 A: Whatever is inside you, you let it out!

"Because of the revolution there are a lot of changes in our country that we can see now. First of all everybody is free to do and say whatever he or she wishes. Our society gradually will rebuild. There will be no classifications because of religion and in the Islamic Republic everybody will be the same. In our previous society we could see people die while others were rich. They didn't care about poor people. Hopefully, in the next years, with our people trying, we will have a nice society, a peaceful situation and be able to do a lot of good things."

Q: What is your name?
 A: Kahida Hafiz
 Q: What country are you from?
 A: Pakistan
 Q: When did you first come to the U.S.?
 A: In the summer of 1976
 Q: What was your first reaction to the U.S.?
 A: I was frightened because there was so much confusion at the airport.
 Q: Do you plan to become an American citizen?
 A: Yes because I will stay here for the rest of my life.
 Q: What types of clubs do schools in Pakistan have?
 A: We don't have any clubs over there. In school we would just learn to read and write.
 Q: What subjects did you study?
 A: I took science, social studies, math, and foreign language

Q: What holidays do you celebrate?
 A: Rozae, it's one month long. In the morning we eat about 6:00 and then we don't eat again until 7:00 p.m. After a month of this there is a holiday where everyone eats!
 Q: Was it difficult to learn English?
 A: No, not that hard. But there are so many meanings for one word.
 Q: What do you think of Americans guys?
 A: They are about the same as guys in Pakistan except that American guys are too fresh.
 Q: What American foods do you like?
 A: Pizza!
 Q: What do you miss most about your country?
 A: My relatives and my friends. Well, the whole country I guess. I'm happier over there.
 Q: Would you like to return ot Pakistan?

Q: What is your name?

A: Joy Labadan

Q: What country are you from?

A: The Phillipines

Q: Do you enjoy living in Norfolk?

A: Yes, the people are very friendly.

Q: What languages do you speak?

A: I speak Tagalog - the Phillipines official language.

Q: What sports do students in your country play?

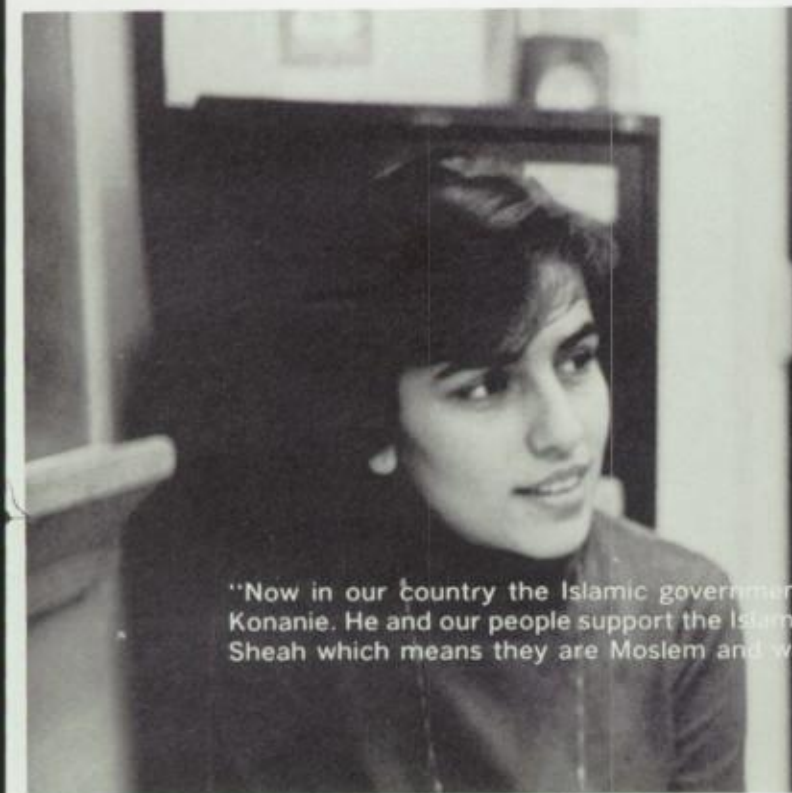

A: Mostly soccer but there are no winter sports.

Q: If you could change something about Maury what would it be?

A: I think more people should involve themselves in the clubs.

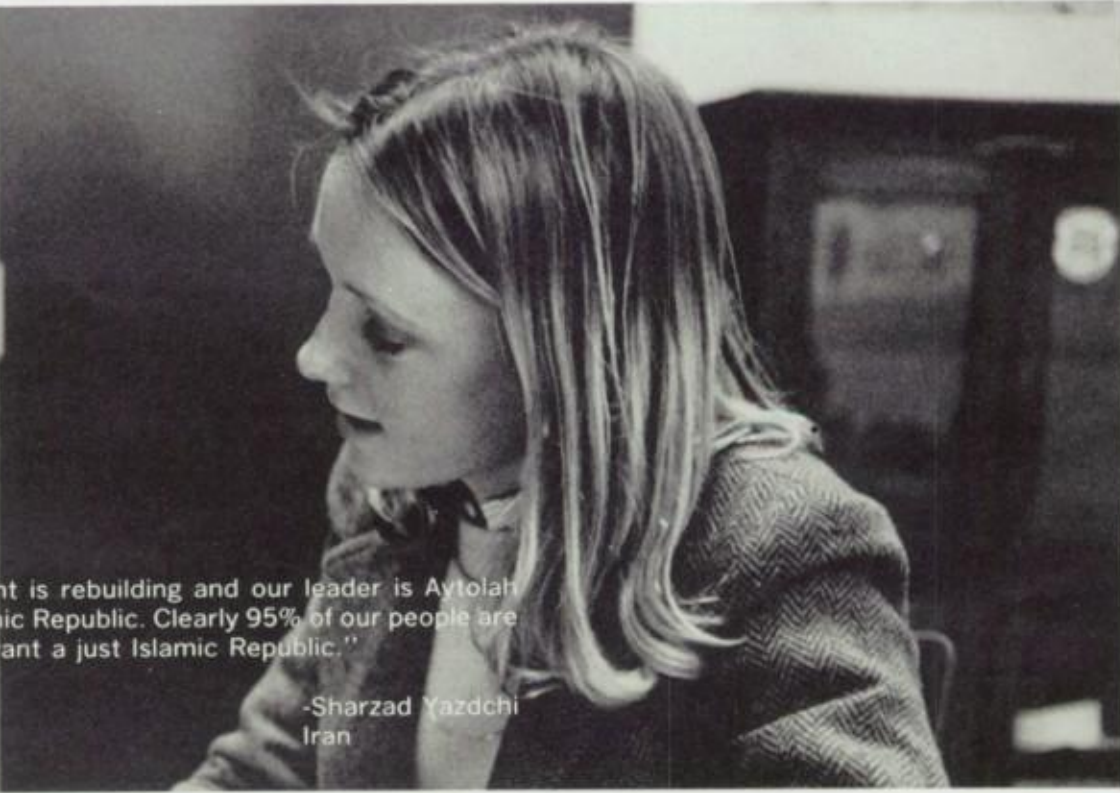

Q: Is the phase elective system new to you and what is your opinion of it?

A: Yes, it's new to me because all the other schools I've been to have used the traditional system. I really prefer the phase elective system and enjoy it tremendously. Since I was a new student here the phase elective allowed me the chance to meet a lot of new people and make a lot of friends. It is also a great way to prepare yourself for college. If you use the phase elective system to your advantage, you could be receiving an education in this country. The best thing is that it breaks the boredom. I don't enjoy sitting in the same boring class with the same teacher and classmates day after day.

Q: What do you think of the ERA?

A: I think the United States is very nice and all American girls are nice.

Q: What do you like best about attending school at Maury?

A: I like the sports best.

Q: What do you plan to do in the future?

A: Be a soccer player because about two years ago I play soccer and I am a very good player.

Q: What is the average income for someone living in Iran?

A: $1,000 for one year

Q: What would you most like to change about the U.S.?

A: I like everything about the United States.

Q: Is English difficult to learn?

A: Yes, very difficult and I am still learning much everyday.

Student Life; Abita Della Studente

Student life at Maury is a world of variety. Something exists for everyone which is quickly discovered by new arrivals. Regardless of interests, hobbies, and talents, Maury's World has something new and exciting to offer each individual.

Heartbeat . . .

During the first few days of classes, a visitor at Maury High School will find a variety of activities in progress. These activities will more-than-likely be interspersed with confusion and chaos, some humor, some excitement, and for those unfortunate students with scheduling conflicts - panic and despair! The malady is the opening of school; a new beginning and a clean slate for every student. The remedy is time which miraculously manages to untangle the webs' of confusion surrounding these first few days. What may at first glance appear to be hundreds of thousands of fledglings; the actual count is closer to 1900. Among these (although requiring a somewhat longer period of recuperation) may be found administrators as well as office, cafeteria, and custodial personnel. A quick head count is taken . . . survival rate 100%. Following a long, peaceful vacation, the Maury pulse awakens; it beats, throbs . . . the school year 1978-1979 has begun.

Right: Maury's photographer captures a "classic" in this pose by Terri Snipp and Steve Otto. Bottom Right: Amy Leafe's first year at Maury is turning out to be a good one. Bottom Left: A first look at Maury's front entrance hall reveals a display of awards and trophies collected by Commodores over the years.

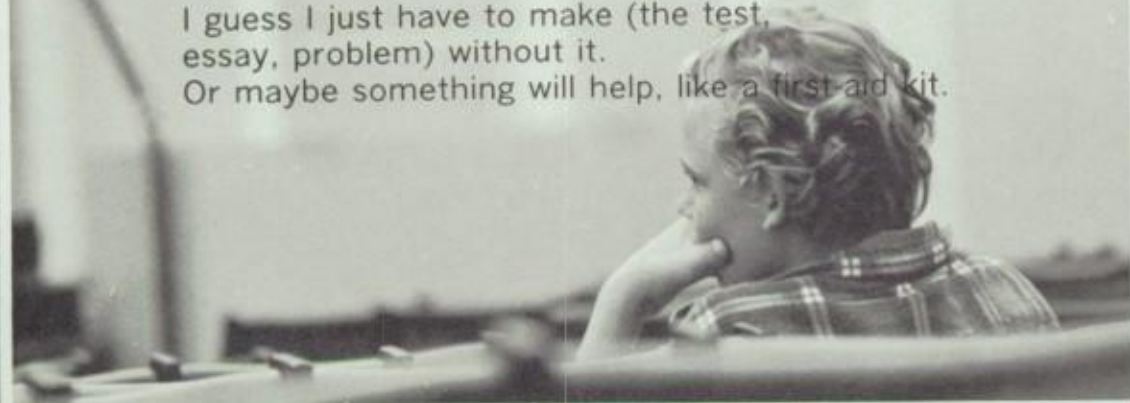

My imagination is gone,
But I have lots of work to be done.

I cannot find the words, solutions . . . that I need
Why is my imagination suddenly dead?

Or is it just lost,
To purchase a new one would too much cost.

I guess I just have to make (the test, essay, problem) without it.
Or maybe something will help, like a first-aid kit.

Top left: This phantom student takes time out to show support for Maury's opening game against Norview. Top right: Assistance to students by students is no uncommon sight at Maury. Here Donna Meads attempts to correct a scheduling error for a new student during the first week of school. Center right: If Mike Bean and Jill Slinkard are bewildered by the opening of school, you couldn't prove it by the expressions captured here. Bottom left: Elaine Stephens is an equestrian at heart and demonstrates that student life extends beyond the perimeters of Maury High School.

The Welcome Reprieve . . .

Many are those who anxiously await the ringing of this bell. One should not mistake this for an ordinary bell. It's chime is synonymous with life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness, maybe. It brings to mind flashes of red, white, and blue . . . pictures of that great lady who guards New York Harbor . . . popcorn and apple pie . . . From within the depths of this great American institution comes a clear, piercing sound. We recognize it as 5th bell and 5th bell is lunch bell bringing with it "The Welcome Reprieve". Whether your choice is a hot lunch in the cafeteria, brown bagging it on the front entrance steps, or a sunny picnic on school grounds, fifth bell brings a much needed period of relaxation and socialization to students and teachers alike.

Top: "Flattery will get you nowhere," says Kim Edney to Guss Praileau as she tries to collect her lunch in the cafeteria. Right: Munching out is Dwayne Blackwell's favorite pastime. Above: Doug Chambers says, "Who's been eating my chips?"

Strong Minds . . . Strong Bodies

The greatest portion of a student's life at Maury is spent in the actual classroom situation. Emphasis is placed on developing the individual's mind in conjunction with his body. Each area is challenging and when conquered, adds a new dimension to the students life.

Left: Ann Signs knows there's no better way to cool off than to go for a quick dip in Maury's new pool. right: An exciting environment surrounds students in Marine Biology class. Middle right: Explains Tina McCarthy, "Remember what I told you . . . Maury doesn't want tuna with good taste. Maury wants tuna that taste good!"

E.R.A. Affects Homecoming

The homecoming this year turned out better than was expected. In addition to the victorious game against Granby, the student participation was excellent. The stands were full of excited fans ready for action! As for the floats (consisting of the F.B.L.A., Mr. and Miss F.B.L.A., Mr. and Miss Pep Club, the Drama Club, Mr. and Miss Drama Club, Garnett-West Club, and the Key Club), the most outstanding float was the Garnett-West entry which won first place. The Drama Club float was second with Key Club coming in third. In the homecoming court, the title of "Queen" was worn by Brian Machamer. He did, however, pass the crown on to the first maid of honor, April Norman. Maury homecoming 1978 was both exciting and memorable!

Top: Meg Knight tells Brian Machammer, "If you want to be on Homecoming Court, you have to play the part and hold my arm." Middle: The 1977 Homecoming Queen Mary Fraiser, 1978 Homecoming King Brian Machamer, Brian's escort Meg Knight and Maury's principal Mr. Benham. Bottom right: Chris Calvert, Craig Peterson, and crowd cheer the Homecoming attendants.

Maury Live!

This school year is a blast for all! Certainly there are periods of ups and downs, but we somehow manage to come out ahead. The many new freshmen faces fill our halls. In a sense they take the place of those who graduated and left permanent smiles behind. A fun-filled, happy experience will be remembered when our thoughts turn to school year 1978-1979.

Clubs & Organizations

The popularity of the clubs and organizations at Maury High School is one reason for their tremendous success when it comes to supporting school activities and community projects. They are an integral part of Maury's world and one which affords students an opportunity for socializing both on and off campus.

And The Band Plays On!

From the discipline of marching to the art of performing, the band plays on. Members have several activities in which they participate. After weeks of rehearsing musical selections as well as marching procedures, the band is prepared to play in any parade. One of the bands biggest events is participating in the annual homecoming football game! They entertain the crowd with a variety of music and formations. Their director, Dr. Utley, works with the band during every practice session to help prepare them for their numerous performances.

MAURY HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA 1978-79

Maury Presents ... "Fantasia"

The orchestra consists mainly of string instruments; however, there are a few horns, wind instruments and drums. The orchestra is directed by Dr. Utley and performs on many occasions such as the Christmas and Spring concerts. Only after a great deal of practice and hard work is the group ready to perform. They participate in outside activities including the Youth Symphony and the Junior Youth Symphony. Members are required to audition for a position or "seat" in these activities. The orchestra plays beautifully and is fortunate to have individuals who possess such a wide range of musical talent.

Maury's Pride . . . NJROTC

The Navy Junior ROTC with it's 107 members is a part of Maury's world that we are proud of. Their five day scedule is divided into three academic and two drill days. For the participant they offer three different drill teams, one rifle team, a drum choir, and a color guard. Their out-of-school activities include bowling games against other NJROTC units, field trips, drill competitions, and "festival activities". Our Navy Junior ROTC is a voluntary organization that prepares the participant for life. It has earned the respect and admiration of all at Maury High School.

Drill Team/Flag Unit

The Maury High School Drill Team and Flag Units practice regularly to represent the student body. They proudly show other schools that Maury backs its teams during both good times and bad. These girls participate in parades as well as performing for our half-time enjoyment. Maury's Drill Team and Flag Unit consist of girls whom we are proud to say represent the students at Maury High School.

Black Studies Club

The Black Studies Club is once again one of the most active clubs at Maury. They have as their sponsor Ms. Farrar. Members do things for both their school and community. To raise money, they sell candy and hold dances. As a service project, the club members prepared Thanksgiving baskets for the needy. They also made and bought Christmas gifts, food, and clothing to help bring some measure of happiness to others. The Black Studies club work is admirable. The energy of its members-unlimited!

Chorus And Handbells

The Maury Concert Chorus and Handbells held two outstanding concerts for faculty, parents, and members of the student body. The first performance during the Christmas season was exactly what all needed to get into the spirit of the holidays! With Mr. Vann as sponsor, both clubs practice long hours to achieve beautiful harmony. The club is fortunate this year to have many fine male and female soloists who performed for our listening enjoyment. We look forward with pleasure to their second concert scheduled this Spring!

Maury News

Participating in an interesting and informative course are seven students. Their teacher is Mr. Peele and the course is Maury News. The students learn all skills necessary in constructing a newspaper. In addition, students do things outside of school such as selling advertisements to local companies and businessmen. The Maury News class affords the student an opportunity to work effectively in a group. Putting together a newspaper is a creative process. It can also be fun.

Keyettes

Maury's chapter of Keyette International was reactivated this year after three years of inactivity. Completing its winter membership drive, the club held inductions on February 13, 1979. Mrs. Lynda Yates acted as the school sponsor; likewise, the Harbor Front Key-Wives acted as the community sponsor. The Keyettes are an active organization. Their projects include making and delivering homemade valentines for Maury students as well as helping teachers with clerical work. The Keyettes are a service organization and clearly demonstrated this by providing teachers with homemade baked goods on inservice days. Within the community, the Keyettes "adopted" an elderly couple and visit them regularly. Future projects are now under consideration keeping in mind their basic motto, "We Serve."

"To Play Or Not To Play- That Is The Question"

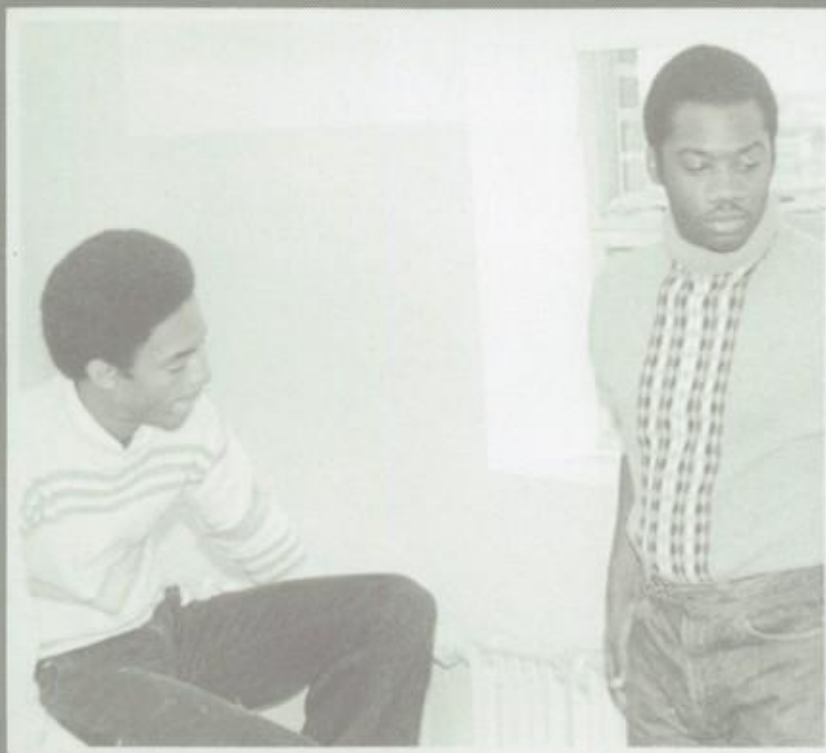

The Maury High School Drama Club has provided its' members with an interesting, stimulating, and active year. With regular practice two days a week, they fill an important role in Maury's world. Throughout the year they have been producing a number of plays and dramas. The Drama Club is a group of creative-minded people whose membership numbers twenty. Their sponsor is Miss Tara Bragg.

D.E.C.A.

DECA stands for Distributive Education Clubs of America. This club was founded to increase the basic knowledge of marketing and distribution of fashion products. A daily activity is to research numerous reports on the origins of fashions or summaries of specific fashions to come. Mr. Fary and Mrs. Fraser co-sponsor this organization. Mrs. Fraser teaches the Fashion Merchandising classes while Mr. Fary teaches marketing. A student who takes marketing is required to obtain and keep a job. Both classes are designed to heighten a persons awareness of fashion and to help individuals acquire marketing skills valuable in later life.

Future Business Leaders Of America

The Future Business Leaders of America Club is designed to expand on the natural leadership qualities students possess. During class sessions, the emphasis is on the business world and how it operates. In addition, the club participates in many fund raising activities including the sale of food and gift items around school as well as an infrequent skating party. Money collected by club members is donated to the March of Dimes. The FBLA is one of the most popular and active organizations at Maury.

Vive La France!

french honor society

Students in the French Honor Society have taken two or more years of French and have a ninety-two or above grade-point average. This year the society participated in fund raising projects such as a car wash and arts festival. Every Spring the club takes part in the Caramess Festival in front of the Norfolk Chrysler Museum. French students from all over the area participate in this event. The French Honor Society also has a few parties where French cheese such as camembert, bread, quiche, and wine are served to represent the traditional French meal. This year's sponsors are Mme. Johnson and Mme. Seizert.

Future Homemakers of America

a way to grow up . . .

A club consisting of eleven members, the students in Future Homemakers of America are organized together for one major objective-to help youth assume roles in society through Home Economics Education in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation, and community involvement. Future Homemakers of America is an organization which has learned to play and work together. Although a small club, each participant is proud to call herself a member of the FHA.

Garnett's Look ing U p And ... ing U P

This year the Garnett Club of Maury High School has participated in many school and community activities. They donate money to the Lee Harkins Memorial Fun and the Joy Fund. Food was also donated to the needy and clothing to benefit the Childrens Hospital of the King's Daughters. The Garnett-West float was once again victorious in the annual homecoming competition!

Key Club

Maury's Key Club exists to serve the school and surrounding community. The Key Club carried out this function in many visible ways throughout the year. Among the services performed this year was painting the lines in the school parking lot, decorating the gym, and raising $900 for King's Daughters Hospital. The one point stressed by Key Club members was service to school and community while still having a good time. Mike Stephens (president), Danny Mason (vice-president), and David Moore (secretary-treasurer) did a great job in administering the club. Next year and the years to follow should prove to be just as good as 1978 has been.

Marine Biology

The Commodore Marine Biology Club is a group of enthusiastic students who love what they do. They spent a great deal of their summer at Moorehead City, Hatteras and other local beaches collecting specimens for their numerous tanks. They will visit the Florida Keys to collect tropical specimens as well as travel to the Smithsonian in Washington, D.C. These are wonderful opportunities for members of the Marine Biology Club and are made possible by their interesting and creative sponsor, Ms. Portlock.

"Veni", Vidi", Vici" – The Latin Club

The Maury High School Latin Club always plans for an active and stimulating year. With its existence, members are helping Latin interested students to broaden their world-wide knowledge through the use of this classic language. The Latin Club has fourteen members. The president is Willis Johnson, vice-president is Fay Watford and secretary is Alex Kirkbride. Miss Donnelly is their sponsor.

"Ladies And Gentlemen - The National Honor Society"

The National Honor Society has had a good 1978-79 year. With their requirement of a 3.3 grade average for membership, they are maintaining a high intellectual level among the Maury High School student body. They have twenty-three members; eleven guys and twelve girls.

Ski Club Skis Pennsylvania

Pennsylvania's Elk Mountain is the place to ski in 1979! This year the Maury Ski Club hit the slopes for four straight days. Elk Mountain has slopes and trails to meet every skier's needs. There are expert slopes for the skier nearing perfection and beginner slopes for the one who is approaching disaster! Conditions on the slopes range from rain to snow. Luckily for the skiers, the snow came on the last day leaving fun-filled memories for all. Unfortunately, Elk Mountain does have one flaw. Night life is nonexistent! Nevertheless, skiers managed to fill their evenings with refreshments, games, and backrubs. When asked to comment on the trip, participants replied, "The best!"

Freakout!

"Freak-Out" . . . "Freak Out" . . . this and many other cheers brought school spirit to many of the Commodore games! With Kim Moore as president, even the shyest student soon found himself on his feet cheering. Miss Baylor is their young and enthusiastic sponsor. Through the efforts of Pep Club members, the achievements of Commodore athletes seldom go unheralded!

Hola! The Spanish Honor Society

The Spanish Honor Society seeks to broaden interest in and knowledge of the Spanish language and the culture of the people who speak it. Activities include two meetings each month which feature guest speakers from different parts of the Hispanic world or others who have traveled to or lived in Spanish speaking lands. Trips to the Chrysler Museum and Old Dominion University Spanish classes among other activities are planned. This school year is an exciting one for the members of the Spanish Honor Society and their sponsor, Mr. Saks!

Wild, Wild , West . . .

Maury's West Club runs the oldest school affiliated Regatta in the nation not to mention being a group of really wild and crazy guys. They manage to live up to their strange reputations with flying colors. Their latest escapade was an unusual wardrobe which the new members wore for initiation. The older members wore their funny hats and hung around on roof tops, as well as in empty swimming pools. Although they do many crazy things, they are always willing to help out the school and community whenever they are needed.

Inside The

The Yearbook Staff, with its sixteen members including editor Suzanne Trapani and sponsor Mrs. Price, has been very fortunate to work with teachers and students who have been patient with us in the rush of meeting numerous deadlines. We hope this years book is one which will be enjoyed by many students for years to come. We could not have accomplished this without the cooperation of all at Maury. We wish to use this space to thank all those who helped make this book possible.

Commodore

Sports; Idrott

With its focus on a student's physical education, sports at Maury is a source of fascination for all. It offers students who participate an opportunity to release frustrations and develop a sense of team effort. The spectators, who unite behind the Commodores with spirit and encouragement, become a part of an even larger team. Offering friendship, laughter, and challenge, the world of sports at Maury is very much alive.

This season the Maury Football Team was very successful posting a 7-3 record. The Commodores displayed a swarming defense and high-powered offense finishing second in the district. One of the reasons for the better than expected record was Coach R.C. Street's employment of the complicated but potent veer offensive system. Rarely seen below the collegiate level, the veer contains the awesome triple option running attack of the wishbone system. The Commodores executed the veer very efficiently with both starting running backs averaging over seven yards per carry and almost half of all the passes thrown going for touchdowns. Turnovers figured prominently in Maury's losses as did a thin bench with several late scores by opponents being made against tiring starters. The team and coaching staff should be commended as they finished better than pre-season predictions-a proud second! The Commodores maintained impressive fan support throughout the season. Maury High School student body loved the action and excitement created by this years varsity football team!

Parting Shots

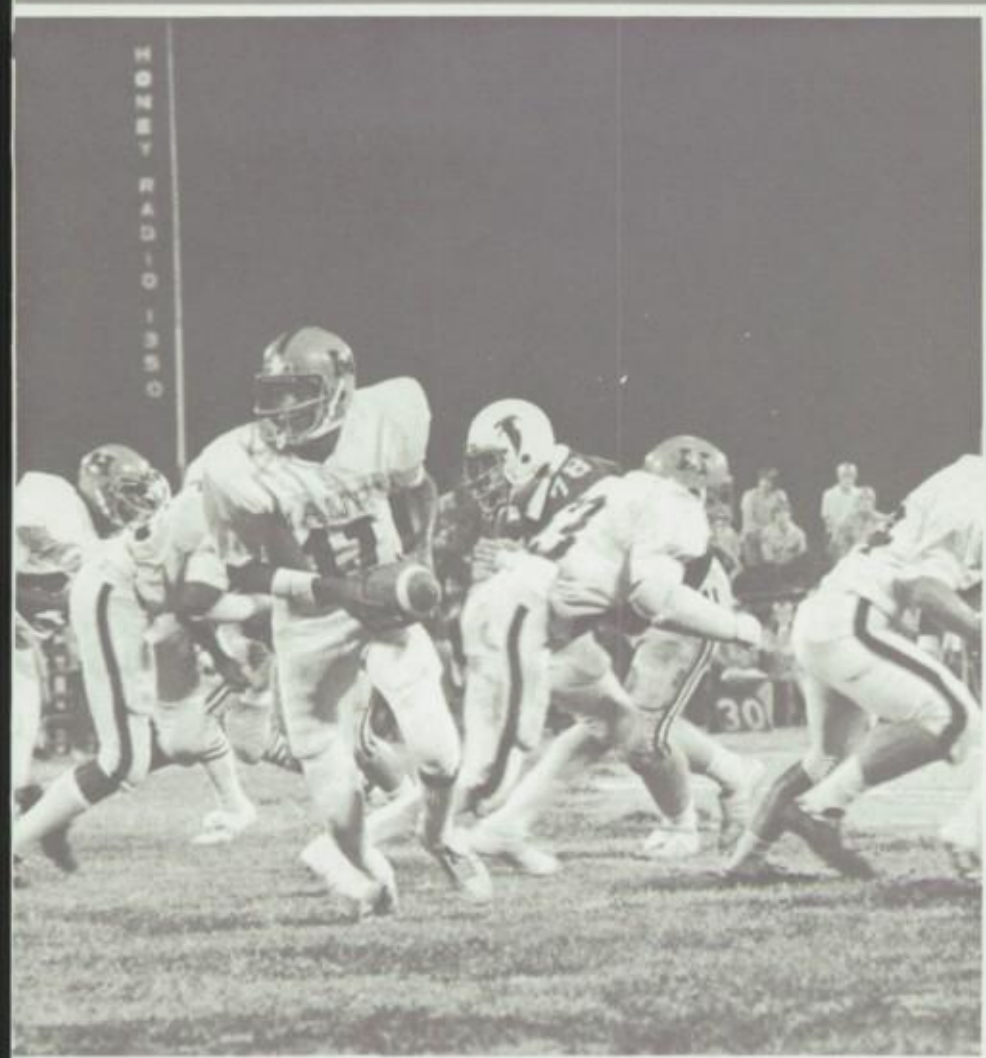

Illustrated here are the many contradictory facets of Maury football. Teamwork versus individuality, raw intensity versus flowing grace, and pain versus satisfaction are all depicted here. Not so apparent however is the dedication and vast amount of hard work put forth by the team and coaching staff. Originally picked in pre-season polls to be no better than mediocre, Maury was the surprise of the conference, exhibiting a high-powered offense and swarming defense. Often outmanned but never out-played, Maury came close to winning a championship and were a threat to win every time the team took the field.

Varsity Cheerleaders

It is not easy to keep smiling when your team is losing, but the Commodore cheerleaders never stop trying to keep the fans' hopes up and their morale high. They are a team working together with the football and basketball teams, although they also feel a closeness to one another. They are friends. Each cheerleader works with another to produce the best cheers possible . . . and they do.

junior varsity sustains football future at maury

More than any other team sport, football skills are learned rather than instinctive. Except for the running, most aspects of football are unnatural and must be taught to and understood by the participants. Maury's Junior Varsity football team is where the transition from athlete to football player takes place.

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders

Alive In '79!

This years Junior Varsity Cheerleaders are some of the most energetic girls in school! They are all new as Commodore cheerleaders but perform like pros. These girls encourage us and keep up our spirits even when our team is behind. The Junior Varsity cheerleaders work hard and show terrific prospect. If their performance this year is any indication, the 1979-1980 cheerleading squad may be better than ever!

Field Hockey

"Face-Off" Time

Even though the Lady Commodore field hockey players did not have a winning season, they demonstrated good technique, raw talent, and tremendous potential for 1979. A small team (fourteen players), they were forced to compensate. Every team member played every game with only three regular substitutes. Inspired by their coach, Pat Panzik, the members of the girls hockey team derived pleasure and personal satisfaction from participation in this most strenuous and challenging of sports.

Cross Country / Track

On Your Mark . . . Get Set . . . Go!

For some there is a joy in running (for others none). The Maury High School Cross Country team definitely belongs to the first category. A look at their season record reflects this groups enthusiasm. Maury's 1979 district standing is second with Ronald Staten and Johnny Epps placing first and fourth respectively in the regionals. The Cross Country team consists of ten talented athletes. They have regular practice sessions directed by Coach Thornton. The Cross Country team is one part of our world that has earned our respect and admiration!

TRACK

Making Tracks

Though track gets far less publicity than football or basketball, it is at least their equal in speed, grace and power. The man generally credited with being America's greatest athlete, Jim Thorpe, received most of his fame for football and baseball exploits. Few people know he was a gold medalist in track and field events at the olympics. No team works harder - with Maury's long corridors becoming the track when inclement weather prevails. And who knows . . . with a combination of skill, hard work, and a little luck Maury's track program could produce a collegiate or Olympic star of the future!

Boys & Girls Swimming

Rebuilding

This year was a rebuilding year for the Commodore swimmers. Lacking in depth, the team had some tough competition. The swimmers used their ability well to defeat some of the tougher swim teams in the area. The Maury Swim Team promises to do well in the District Meet as well as the Invitational Meet. With lots of work and stiff competitive meets, the team has shown steady improvement. Individual members in particular show the power of Maury's swimmers.

Maury's Mat Men Win First State Championship!

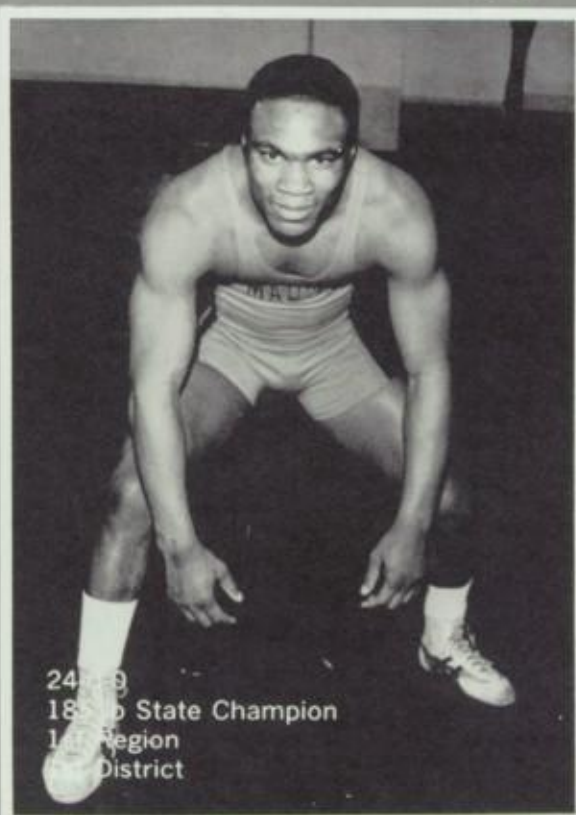

The Commodore Wrestling Team is a credit to our school and city. For the first time in the history of Virginia State Wrestling Competition, Maury High School captured first place. This victory capped off a season filled with successes. Maury placed second in the region and secured a victory over long-time district rival Norview High School for the first time in twelve years! Leading the team is junior John Davis (24-0) with 49 consecutive wins. Davis took the gold medal for his third straight championship. Also a state champion this year at 185 is senior Lee Billups, who finished second last year, had a record of 24-0 with 16 pins. Other participants in the state meet where Bill Robinson who was runner-up at 119 lbs. and William Moxley (HWT) who finished 4th. These athletes have gained much from the leadership and expertise of Head Coach Jack Kennedy and his assistant Doug Townsend. In the past four years, Coach Kennedy has moved Maury from eighth position to first! Congratulations coaches and team!

The Future Is Now!

The Commodore baseball team appears ready to seriously contend for a top spot in the Eastern District standings. After finishing in third place last year, the young Commodores were looked upon as the team of the future. With ten players returning (seven of whom were starters) The Commodores are a team with plenty of experience. Most of the returnees have played together since their Junior Varsity days three years ago. Coach Jack Baker feels his teams success depends on how well his returning pitchers perform. If other returnees live up to their potential, this season will be a winning one for baseball and a delight for its fans!

Varsity Soccer

Introducing . . . Soccer!!

After several years as a club sport, soccer has finally been elevated to varsity status this year. Maury's team, under the good coaching of Pete Smolinski, starts what will hopefully come to be known as a dynasty in Eastern District competition. The Commodores are very successful against other Norfolk schools as well as challenging many beach teams in their bid for the regional crown. The Commodore booters are led by seniors Sid Roberts, Brian MaChamer and Steve Earl.

Varsity Golf

winners in 79!

The Varsity Golf Team hopes to improve their record and have a winning season. With three returning golfers who have lowered their scores over the summer they have a good chance of winning the district title. Golf at Maury High School is an exciting and challenging sport and requires great dedication from those individuals who participate.

Maury's Racquet Club

The girl's tennis team exhibited a fantastic season ending the Eastern District with an 8-0 record. They easily won first place. Starting in first position was Lee Vitasik, a senior. She demonstrated her ability by coming in first in the district and third in the Eastern Regionals. Coming in second in the district was Carol Mauney, also a senior. Teamed for doubles, these two succeeded in winning first place in the Eastern District and in the State Tournament. The number three and four girls (Julie Leafe and Layne Atkinson) teamed up for the Eastern District doubles match against Miss Vitasik and Miss Mauney and placed second. The result of the Eastern District match was a Maury close-out in the finals. Linda Scott started in the number five position. She was skillful and ended her season with a 15-0 record. Playing sixth was Patty Power. 1978 saw Patty on the tennis team for the first time and she showed great improvement. The team as a whole worked very well together. Congratulations to each and every team member for excellent individual contributions!

Varsity Basketball

'big time roundball'

Maury's basketball team had an outstanding season dominating teams on both sides of the river. Surviving early season turmoil, the team lived up to pre-season predictions occupying the top spot in area polls for much of the schedule. Coach Jack Baker can look forward to next year as well with three starters and a good portion of his bench returning. We at Maury salute a fine effort and pass on our best wishes for next season!

Maury advanced to the Eastern Regional Tournament and defeated Booker T. Washington H.S. 62-60 in the Championship Game. The following week the Commodores advanced to Charlottesville for the State Tournament defeating Patrick Henry H.S. 73-60 in the semi-finals before losing to Mt. Vernon H.S. 73-72 in the State Championship Game.

The Stars Come Out At Night!

"Q", "Magic", "Hollywood", "Teer" - new television series? Hardly. These are just a few of the young men responsible for Maury's basketball wizardry. Watching the commodores, one is immediately struck with three impressions. The first is blazing speed. Without a dominant big man, Maury relies on superior team speed and quickness. Secondly, the commodores work extremely hard especially on defense where a man to man or a three-two zone have resulted in many victories. Finally, one gets the impression that the commodores are an intelligent team. Opponents' defenses are quickly recognized and properly attacked. All three lanes are filled on the fast break and commodore switches on defense come effortlessly and with few mistakes. This team is well coached. Defensive skills usually lacking on the playground have been finely drilled by Coach Jack Baker. Despite a lack of speed, offensive rebounds are plentiful and appear to be the result of pinpoint positioning. All things considered, this team with its deep bench is one of Maury's best. With a high percentage of players returning next year, basketball could be better than ever!

Junior Varsity Basketball

on the way up!

Maury's Junior Varsity basketball team is a mortgage on the future. It is here that future varsity talent is identified. Attention and preparation paid at this level will result in future dividends on the varsity squad and help maintain Maury's reputation as a basketball power in Norfolk.

Girls Varsity Basketball

Girls Varsity basketball consists of athletes who do their best to win against other organized school teams. Miss Brown is the coach and responsible for training these girls and developing their skills. Team practice is long hours and hard work, but it pays off on court. The Maury girls basketball team is a talented, well-organized, and dedicated group of girls. They deserve our respect . . . and our support.

Sports Banquet

Maury Hails Outstanding Athletes!

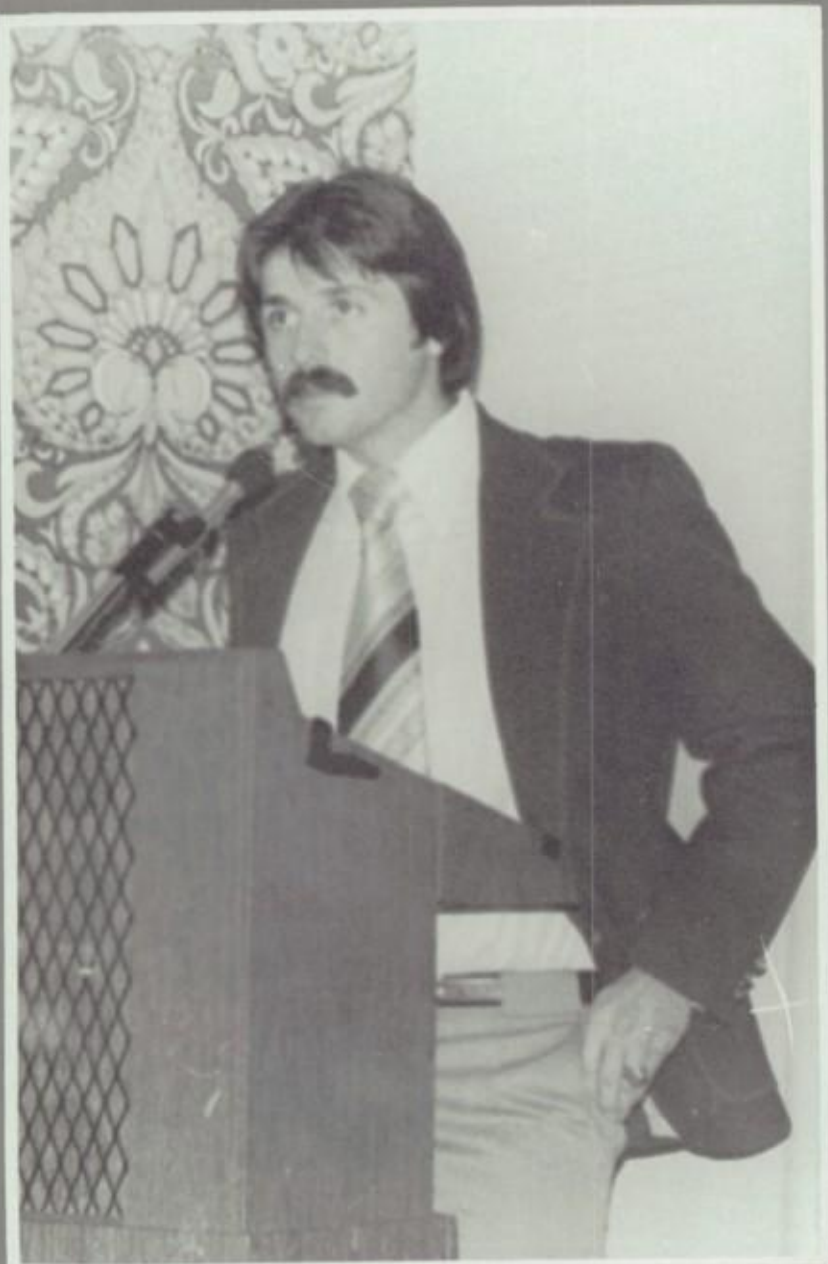

After each sport season ends, a banquet is held to honor our outstanding athletes. The dinner usually consists of large amounts of shrimp and fried chicken. After the prayer is said and the dinner eaten, the awards portion of the ceremony begins. Each coach presents trophies and letters to deserving athletes. After the banquet, the students leave Breezy Point Officer's Club with a feeling of satisfaction. That is, both their egos and stomachs are full!

Academics, Studio Academia

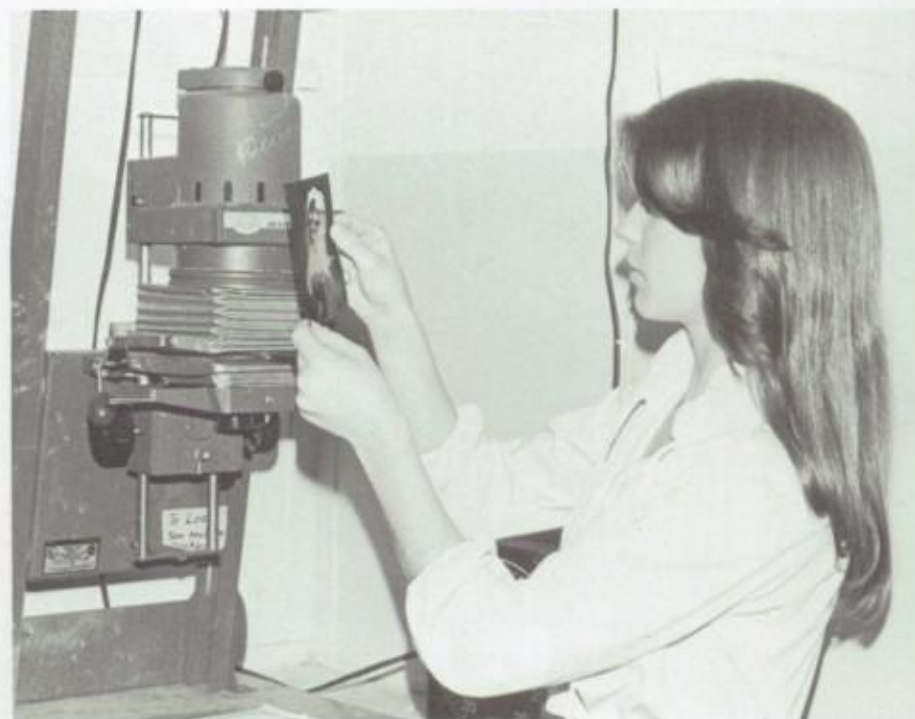

There is no more important part of Maury's world than academic studies. Offering students a variety of electives which are interesting and challenging is no easy task but one to which the faculty and administration of Maury High School are equal.

Academic World Challenges Pupils

The academic activities in the world of Maury form a self-contained continent which is well worth the visit. The Foreign Language state has many exciting tourist spots! Students may study various languages and the customs of the people who speak them. The Library state may be entered if you have the proper passport. A massive collection of books and reference materials is available to all. For the student who enjoys meeting new people and exchanging philosophies, there exists the Governor's School. It provides a whirl-wind week of intellectual stimulation. It is an experience long remembered and well worth the time invested. Maury High School offers an academic world of variety and excitement. The individual need only accept the challenge!

Faculty; Fakultät

It is always a pleasure to meet new people! Maury's World says, "Welcome to its new faculty rookies!"

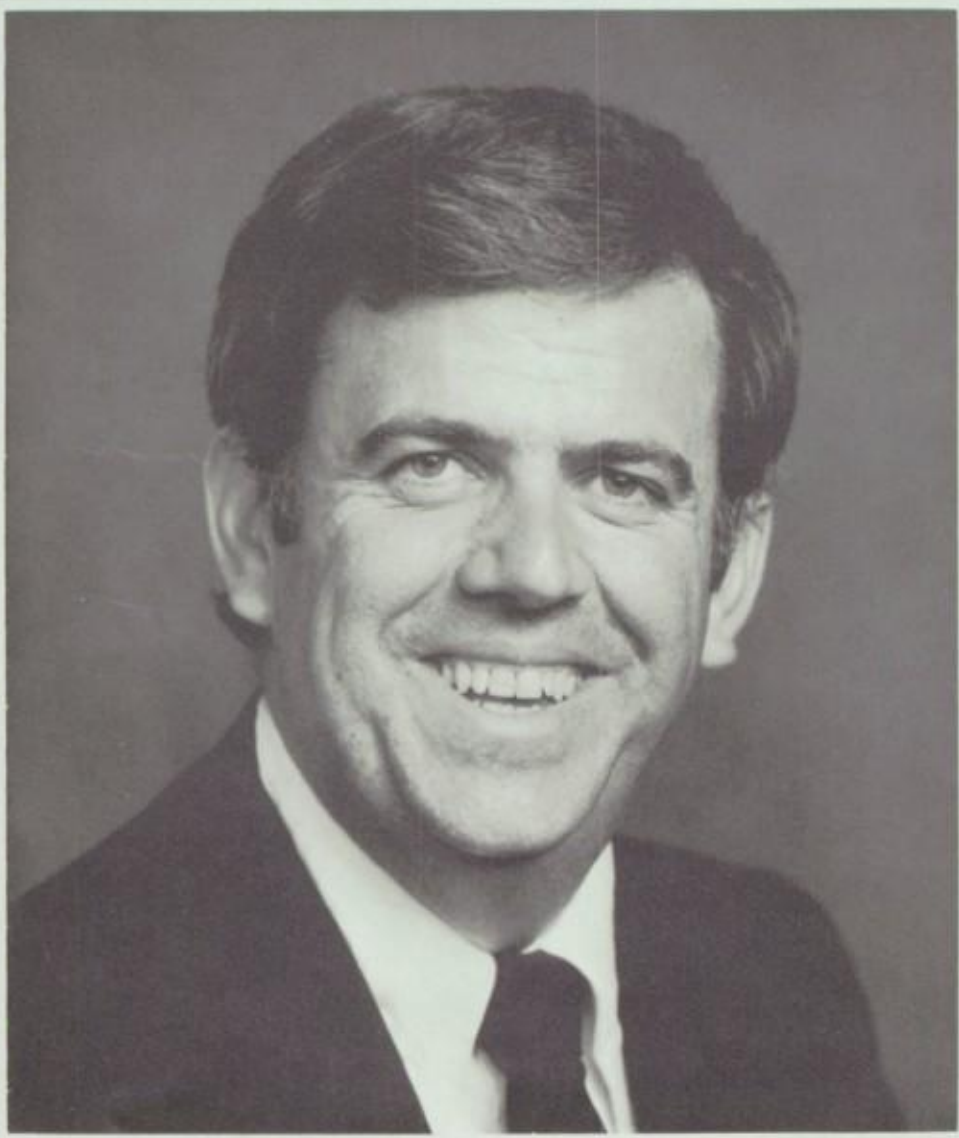

Cornerstones

There are none who work harder or longer hours than the principal and assistant principals at Maury High School. Whether it's crowning the Homecoming Queen, planning a fund-raising dance, correcting a scheduling error, or solving a personal family conflict, Maury's principals are always available and willing to help in any way they can. Mr. Fred Benham and his three assistant principals (Mr. Banks, Mr. Street, and Mr. Reddy) are appropriately and deservedly referred to as the "Cornerstones" of Maury High School.

Guide Posts

The job of counselor at Maury is not an easy one. An individual who lays claim to this title sometimes must feel like the Texans at the Alamo. His life will be so much easier if he first qualifies as a computer programmer. This background will better equip him to face and hopefully unscramble the reams upon reams of schedule errors which occur at the beginning of each nine week period. There are incomplete schedules and partial course listings for those students who exist and completed schedules and full course listings for those who do not in addition to simple name and number errors. And then there are light schedules, heavy schedules, no right schedules, and the inevitable lost schedule (as well as student) both of which require the counselors immediate attention. Additionally, the counselor is there to give advice to young and old alike. Student problems become that of the counselor regardless of whether they are school related or personal family difficulties. He is there to help plan academic programs, technical and vocational programs or more simply, careers. Primarily he helps plan lives . . . and for this service we say all too infrequently, Thank You!

The Archives

The Maury High School library serves as the major resource center containing most of the volumes, periodicals, and other reference materials required by the student. It is one of the more popular areas in school because it affords the student a comfortable place in which to study between classes. It also provides everyone with an opportunity to read in a relaxed, cheerful atmosphere.

Maury has three librarians to assist the students. Their responsibilities go further than merely sorting books, and ordering reference materials. Their friendly faces and helpful attitudes as well as their experience and knowledge in the field of Library Science is of great value to the student desiring to exceed the minimum requirement for assignments.

The intricate business of running a library is a mystery to most of us; however, it becomes quickly apparent when visiting the second floor IMC Center that Maury's library is one in which we can all take pride.

Spotlight

It is surprising the number of teachers at Maury High School who find additional time outside of their responsibilities as educators to give of their talent and energy to community projects and civic organizations. Dr. Eleanor King is an example of one such teacher. Pictured here at an Honorary Banquet for the Outstanding Woman of the Year in Johnson Memorial Temple, Dr. King (Co-Pastor) is presenting a plaque to Mrs. Bertha Riddick (local business woman) as her husband Phillip Riddick and Dr. Paschal V. King look on. The affair was well attended and took place in the banquet room of the Omni International Hotel in downtown Norfolk.

Profiles

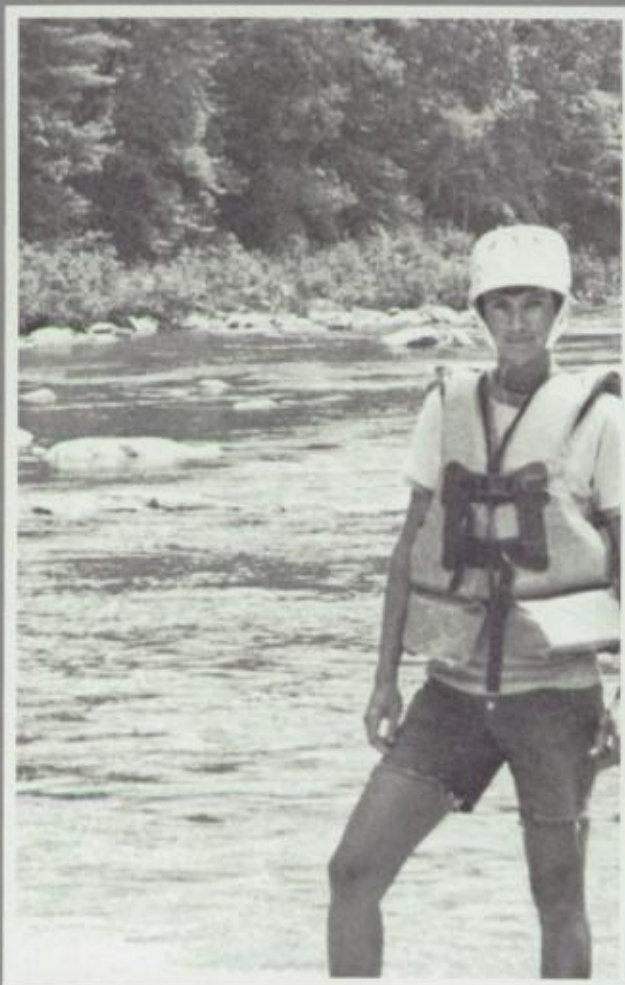

All have suspected for some time that students at Maury High School have a peculiar effect on faculty members. A quick snap of the camera lens produced this evidence in support of our theory. Will Mr. Mitchell survive the year? We think so. His sense of humor (which made this picture possible) affords him many admirers among the students at Maury. A Special Position

When the office was remodeled this summer, a "new" room was added for a "new" position. The position is Administrative Assistant and the man assigned the job is Mr. Shealy. It is his responsibility to find out when and why students are absent from class. He deals primarily with student absenteeism and some disciplinary problems. We are delighted to learn that Mr. Shealy will be returning to his former position in the Social Studies department. He is a teacher who is greatly missed!

Visible Supports

When the bell rings, we all get together to eat and friends meet. For twenty-five minutes we disconnect ourselves from the daily routine at Maury. We stand in endless lines, socialize, eat hamburgers, and work on a last minute preparation for a test. But what do we forget? We never think of the cafeteria personnel who make it possible for us to eat and friends meet. And what about the period after lunch and when school is out? Who is responsible for making our school look the same way every morning and not the way we left it? The custodians are. The custodial staff and the cafeteria personnel—we owe them both some appreciation; they deserve it!

Without the help of many, the production of the 1979 Commordore would not have been possible.

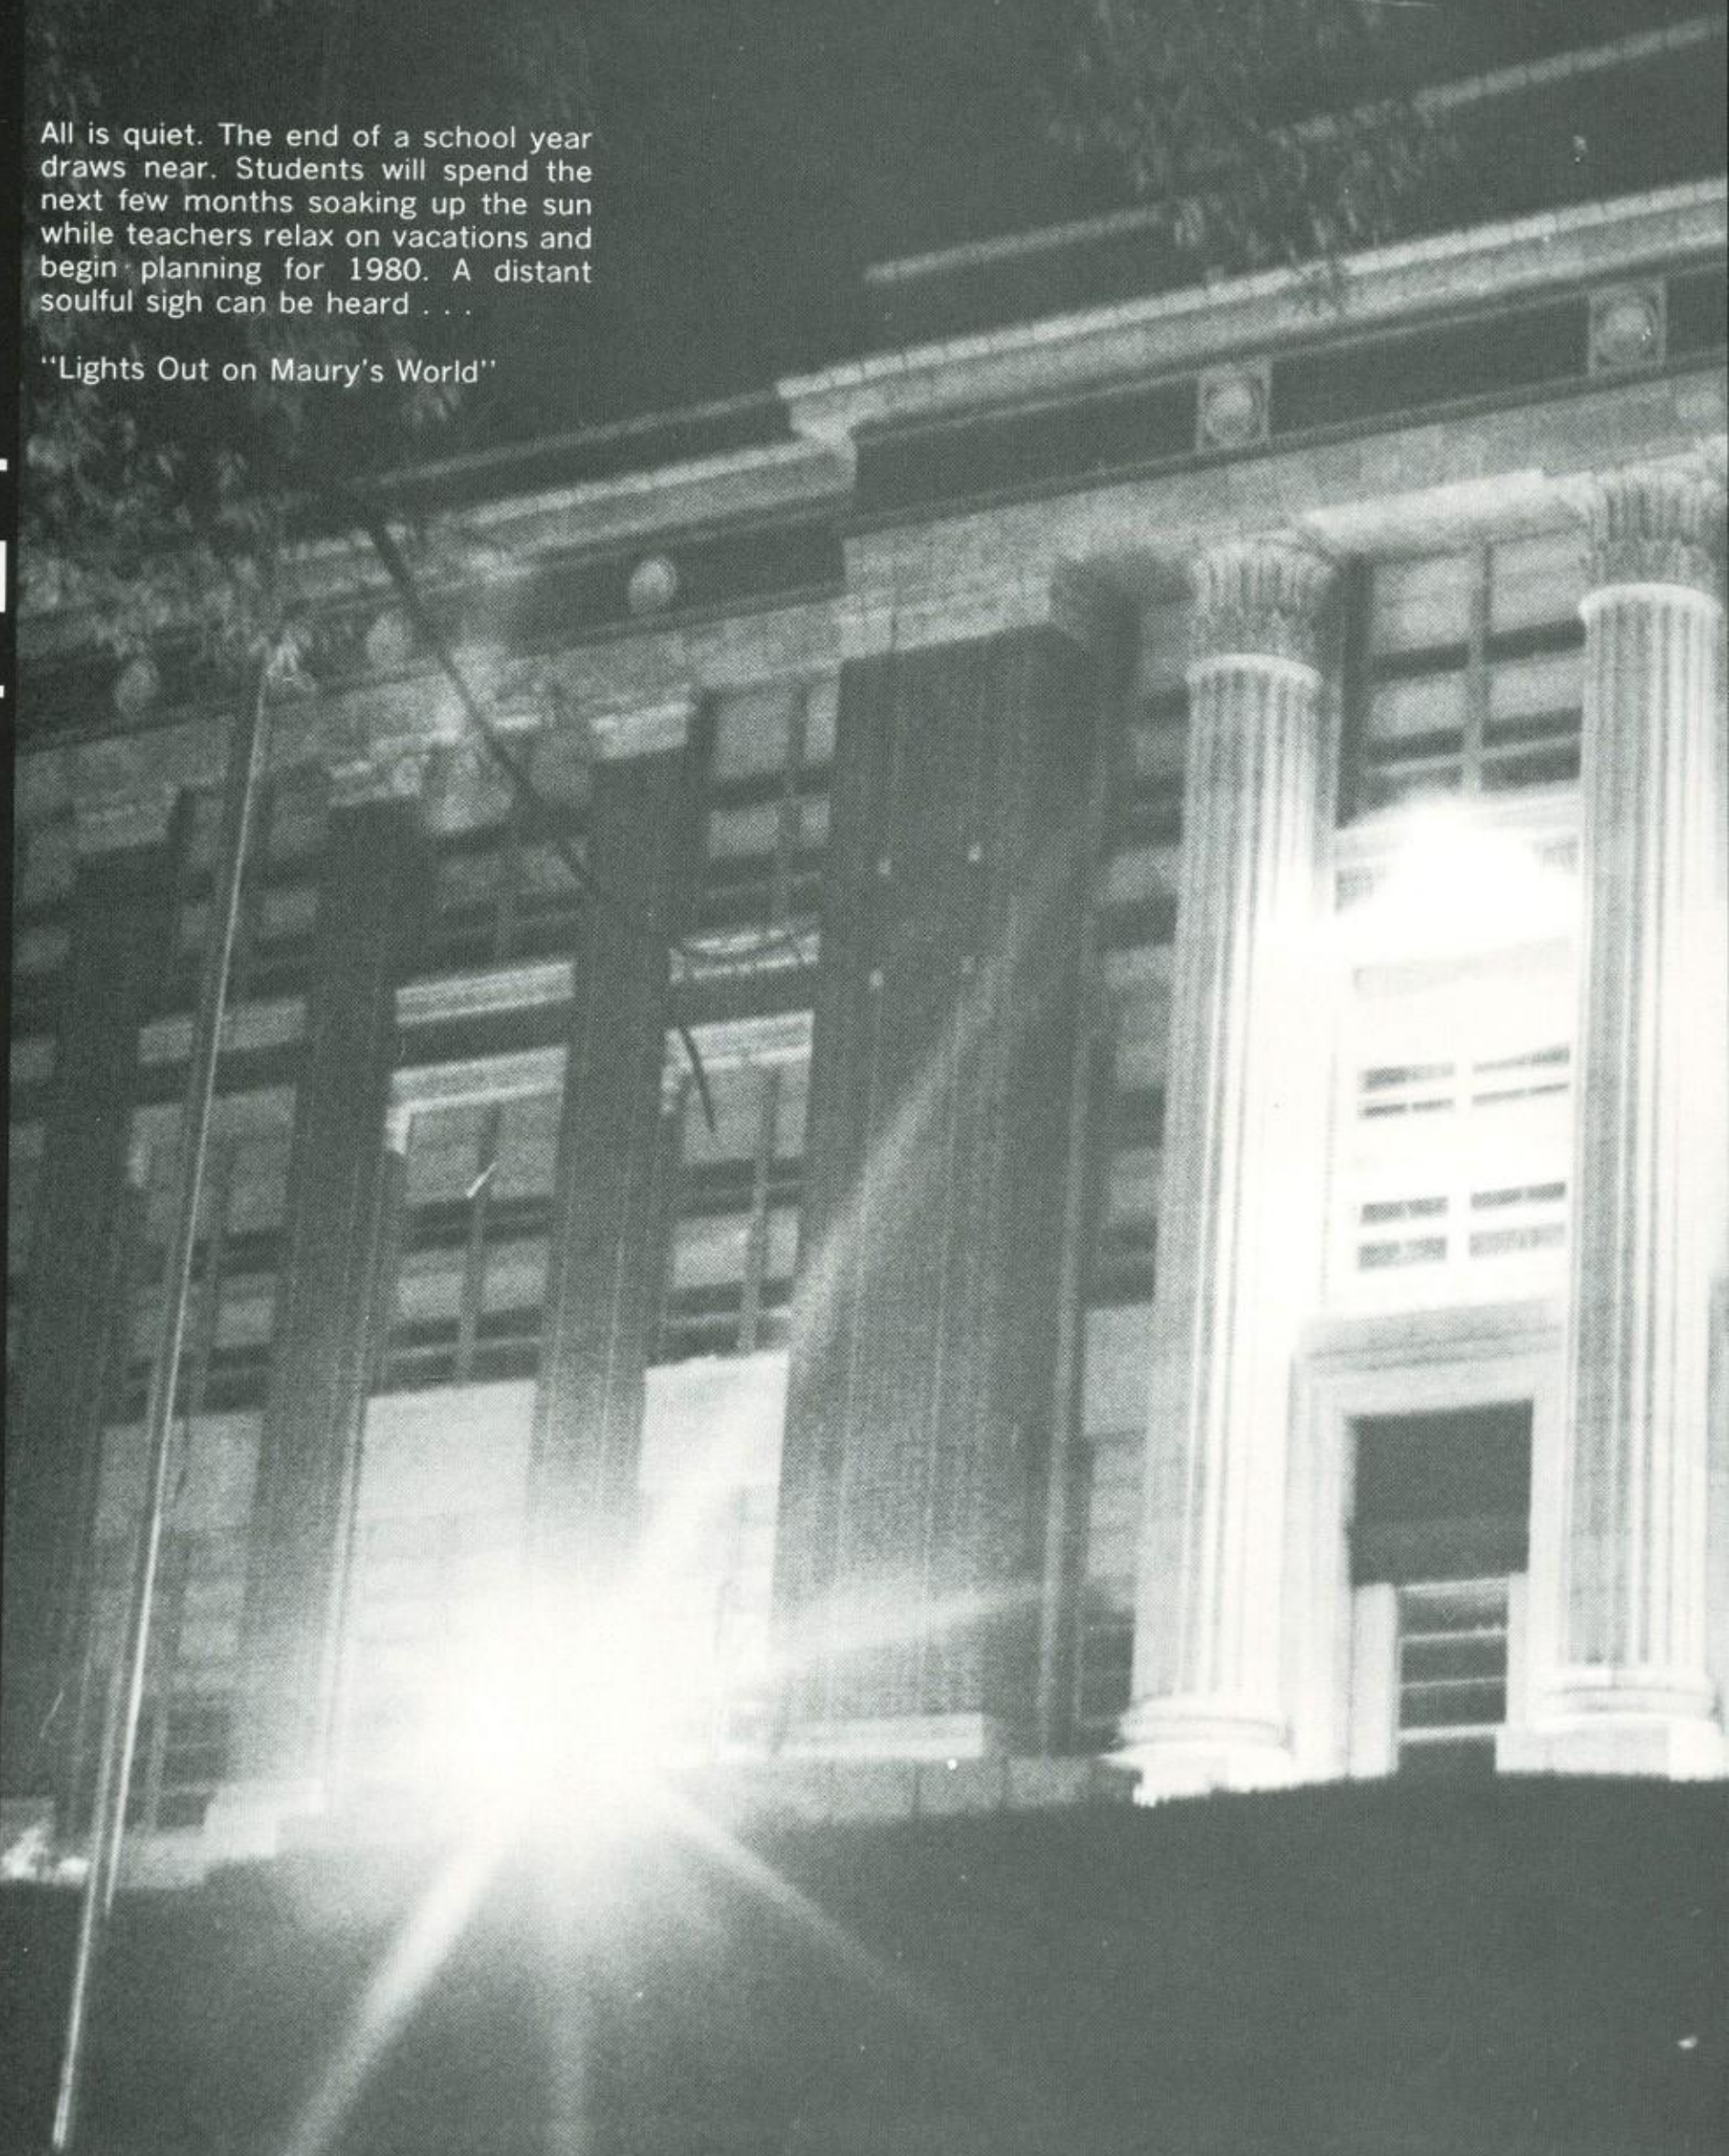

Special recognition is given to Miss Sandy Baylor who worked patiently with staff members in creating artwork, and taking and developing photographs to accentuate the book's theme. Special thanks to Patrick Wiggins, Commordore photographer, who gave unselfishly of his time.

Lights Out . . .; Lumière Éteinte

All is quiet. The end of a school year draws near. Students will spend the next few months soaking up the sun while teachers relax on vacations and begin planning for 1980. A distant soulful sigh can be heard . . .

Reflections

Actively pursuing individual goals, Maury High School students search for identity in a world controlled by established principles.

As half-recognized adults, the young continue to search for fulfillment in the microcosm of school and community.

Dawn,
 ya don't know
 ya very well
 but maybe I'm going to be here for 2 more yrs, we will be able to. Good luck always!

Dawn,
 I'm glad that I have made friends with you this year because you are very nice. I hope to see you this summer. Good luck in the future.

Dawn,
 So a young lady who I know for one year. Who is nice, sweet and very smart. Stay the way you are and you go far in life

Dawn
 give Jamie a really super sweet to wish I could have gotten to know you better cause am Dad's work as close together practically. I hope to get to know you better next year I'll see you over the summer at the pool or elsewhere
 Love,
 Jani
 Nat

Dawn,
 I had the opportunity to meet you more often. I hope we can meet together in the future.
 Love,
 Nat

Dawn,
 I really enjoyed your friendship and I hope to see you again
 soon.
 Love,
 Nat

Damn!
This idea in Carter's class sure is boring isn't it I think so anyway.
But then everything in Carter class is boring temporary.
At this moment if I had a contest of who reveals the most I would surely win.
I am hot and my hands
look like like a small Puddle. So how did you like your first year at
mum. Mine was ~~so~~ pretty good ~~forward~~ and you were one of the people who ~~was~~ made ~~travels~~ something to look forward to. But I still can't wait till the summer comes. Boy am I ~~agitated~~ to try to have a good time ~~as~~ that summer in some way ~~another~~ depressing to think about and the summer is supposed to be a lot different. This ~~para~~ paragraph really didn't ~~mean~~ add up to a whole ~~the~~ did it well ~~at~~ that's why I suppose.
your one person I can carry on good, intellectual conversation with and believe me that's not easy. I've been talking to me, I think I think of you I think, you & me talking & and I make ~~under~~ ~~and~~ I think of those long conversations on the phone about you know what and you know what. I hope I'll see you some time. I've summer and I don't have a really ~~good~~ ~~good~~ travelling nice summer holiday ~~holiday~~ holiday

Sincerely
Dwight

Dawn,
 Besides knowing you
 from Jr High and here
 I really can't think of much to say except you are very sociable along with me and I hope to see you over the summer.
